FOREWORD

Transcript Warning:

All written transcripts are imperfect abstracts of spoken conversation. Variations in sound quality and in the aural acuity of listeners can and do produce wide variations in what is heard. Even though transcripts may be prepared at great effort and with great care, many points of ambiguity are inevitable, and erroneous interpretations from transcripts are always possible. Therefore, to ensure full confidence in any and all quotations from the presidential recordings, users are strongly urged to check all transcript renditions against the actual tape recordings before publication.

Copyright:

The donors assigned copyright that they might have in the recordings to the United States; however, copyright of the donors does not extend beyond statements uttered by John F. Kennedy, his minor children, and the donors themselves. Statements uttered by officials of the United States government in the course of their duties are considered to be in the public domain. Users of this material are cautioned, however, that not all persons recorded were members of the Kennedy family or government officials. A number of the people recorded were, at the time of recording, private citizens. Therefore, those intending to quote from this material beyond the accepted limits of fair use are cautioned to determine the copyright implications of any intended publication.

Punctuation:

The following conventions are used throughout the transcripts:

* * *	To indicate a pause in the recording while the speaker listens to the person speaking at the other end of the telephone. Used when only one side of a telephone conversation is recorded.
[?]	When the transcriber is not certain of what is said on the recording.
	To indicate a sentence which the speaker trails off without completing it.
	When a speaker is interrupted before a sentence is completed.
	To indicate the speaker's emphasis.
[]	Used to enclose editorial comments of the transcriber such as [Meeting appears to be breaking up/ or /Several speakers speak at once and none of the words are intelligible./

Names:

The first time a name is mentioned, the full name is provided whenever it is known. "JFK" and "RFK" are used for President Kennedy and Robert Kennedy, respectively. When the identity of a speaker is unknown, "Speaker?" is used; when the identification of a speaker is uncertain, a question mark follows the name. The heading of each transcript gives the names of all participants listed in the President's Appointment Books as scheduled to attend the meeting.

Preparation:

These electronic documents were created from transcripts available in the audiovisual research room in the John F. Kennedy Library. The transcripts were scanned using optical character recognition and the resulting text files were proofread against the original transcripts. Some formatting changes were made.

[Belt 4J was badly deteriorated when received, and the transcript is offered with reservations. An echo is frequently heard in the background, and the belt often skips.]

Item 4J1

October 2, 1962
	[Begins mid-conversation.]
JFK: ¹	\dots what about the other, the troop situation down there? How do you, how are, how are you, how many, uh \dots
Vance: ²	Uh, we have got, uh, it should be about ten thousand now. Those are what Howze ³ is trying to stabilize in the Oxford area, sir. And, uh, what we propose to do on this, was General Wheeler ⁴ was going to get in touch with, uh, General Howze, ask him to prepare a plan with respect to the phased withdrawal of, uh, troops of Mississippi. And to submit that back so that we could then come and submit it to you, sir.
JFK:	Yes, the quicker we could probably make some public [belt skips]'s better off
Vance:	Right, sir.
JFK:	psychologically would be. They think that that's the number that they may need for a while?
Vance:	Yeah. They think that for the time being or so that this, this is the safest number to have there.
JFK:	I see.
Vance:	It may be somewhat excessive, sir, but my feeling is it's better to be safe on [this one?] .

¹ President Kennedy's side of the conversation is also recorded on Audiotape 27, Item 2.
² Cyrus R. Vance.
³ Hamilton Howze.

⁴ Earle G. Wheeler.

JFK:	[Belt skips.] instructions down there about the, how they should handle people? That they
Vance:	Minimum force [word unintelligible], minimum force.
JFK:	uh, sort of a restated, uh, I think it, it may have to be restated today because, uh, in the first, uh, [force?] was desirable and now, uh, it is, won't be. So that I suppose every time you get a [belt skips] knocked down, it feeds the fires around the place. So I suppose, uh, at least it oughta be brought to his attention
Vance:	Right
JFK:	to see how he thinks it should be done.
Vance:	well, we will do so.
JFK:	Okay. Fine.
Vance:	Sir, do you want, sir, do you want to release anything [at this stage?], would you like us to do it in terms of the public release?
JFK:	Uh, let me just think about that, uh, let me just think about that. [Pause.] [Words unintelligible] Barnett. ⁵ He asked us to do it? Barnett? Barnett asked us for them or, uh, who's asked, uh
Vance:	Barnett has not asked us, Barnett has not asked us to do this.
JFK:	Yeah. Who has asked us?
Vance:	Mr. President, I can't tell you who in the state of Mississippi has.
JFK:	We might do it this way. You see, well now [do it this way?] say the president has approved the, uh
Vance:	All right. [I'll use?] the president has approved. We'll release it over here and check the [release with, uh?]
JFK:	Better find out who's asked us to do it, though, so that, uh [Off the phone to someone in the room.] Well, when did he ask us to do it? [Back on the phone to Vance.] The guess is that they, uh Kenny ⁶ says that the governor asked the civil def Of course, I suppose he didn't ask for the troops because he didn't have to ask us for the troops. We'd given 'em that, [words unintelligible] that. We'd given 'em the declaration [for the troops?]. Well, now who, who have you been talking to about this, Cy? Is it [Bob?] McDermott? ⁷

Vance:	McDermott. Yeah.
JFK:	About the twenty-five hundred? What they're going to do with twenty-five hundred troops, I don't know. We agreed to, uh, help them [altogether?] to clean up. I don't know what they're going to do with twenty-five hundred soldiers to get out.
Vance:	Uh, the letter I have from McDermott says, "While we have no way to judge the appropriate figure, the state director of civil defense of Mississippi has informed the Public Health Service officials that twenty-five hundred troops would be needed."
JFK:	I see. All right, well, I see. Well, anyway the request
Vance:	Yeah.
JFK:	of the, uh, civil defense director, uh
JFK: Vance:	of the, uh, civil defense director, uh State director of civil defense of Mississippi.
Vance:	State director of civil defense of Mississippi.
Vance: JFK:	State director of civil defense of Mississippi. yeah, uh, the president has approved the, uh [belt skips] have 'em
Vance: JFK: Vance?:	State director of civil defense of Mississippi. yeah, uh, the president has approved the, uh [belt skips] have 'em Yeah. Fine.
Vance: JFK: Vance?: JFK:	State director of civil defense of Mississippi yeah, uh, the president has approved the, uh [belt skips] have 'em Yeah. Fine so we don't get [Barnett into it?].

⁶ Kenneth P. O'Donnell. ⁷ Edward A. McDermott.

JFK: Thank you, bye.

[Phone hangs up.]

Item 4J2

October 3, 1962

JFK:	Cy?
Vance ⁸ :	Yes, Mr. President.
JFK:	Morning.
Vance:	Morning, sir. We would, uh, like to come over if we can, about twelve o'clock, General Wheeler and I, to discuss withdrawal plan with you, sir.
JFK:	Good. Fine. Okay, uh, I'll be, uh, I'll be right here.
Vance:	Fine, sir.
JFK:	Good. Okay.
Vance:	Be there.

Conversation #4: Evelyn Lincoln and William H. Brandt. White House Police

October 2.1962

Mrs. Lincoln:	Hello.
Officer Brandt:	Hello. This is Officer Brandt. Is Mrs. Lincoln in?
Mrs. Lincoln:	This is she.
Officer Brandt:	Oh, Mrs. Lincoln. I'm sorry I didn't recognize your voice. I have Jimmy Deakins over here with a doctor from Germany, and he did say that you had mentioned that he come over there if he got through in time. Unfortunately, I believe the boss is in the office right now.
Mrs. Lincoln:	Yes, he is. He can look in at the Cabinet Room if he'd like.
Officer Brandt:	Uh-huh. I think that would be nice, and he would appreciate it. Suppose I send him over to E4 officer and he can handle it from that point?
Mrs. Lincoln:	Okay. Thanks an awful lot.
Officer Brandt:	Thank you very much, Mrs. Lincoln.
Mrs. Lincoln:	Alrighty. Bye.
Officer Brandt:	Bye-bye.

Conversation #5: Evelyn Lincoln and Unidentified Operator

October 2. 1962

Voice:	Yes, please?
Mrs. Lincoln:	Supplies.
Voice:	Mrs. Lincoln, on your call to the Duchess of Devonshire, she just left, and she's expected back around noon our time. Can't be reached otherwise.
Mrs. Lincoln:	Oh. That's fine.
Voice:	I'll leave word.
Mrs. Lincoln:	O.K.
Voice:	Thank you. And you want Supplies?
Mrs. Lincoln:	Yeah.

Conversation #6: Evelyn Lincoln and Unidentified Person

October 2. 1962

Voice:	Supply Room.
Mrs. Lincoln:	This is Evelyn Lincoln.
Voice:	Uh-huh.
Mrs. Lincoln:	I'm out of those envelopes again. The letter size, brown.
Voice:	Uh,
Mrs. Lincoln:	yellow
Voice:	You mean the 9 ¹ / ₂ by 12?
Mrs. Lincoln:	Well, the letter size, you know. Yeah.
Voice:	Uh-huh. Yes.
Mrs. Lincoln:	I think I'd better have about fifty of those.
